Avoiding Sexual Assault (Advice for Teenagers)

網上虛擬 交心不宜初初相識 保持警惕

Don't Trust people in the Cyber World Be Vigilant when meeting New Friends

How to Avoid Internet Sexual Assault? Do Not:

- Disclose personal information and photos, etc.;
- Respond to indecent chats;
- Meet net friends alone:
- Browse pornographic websites;
- Make your personal blog open to public.

You Should:

- Set up Internet privacy control;
- Block messages from strangers;
- Be aware of personal safety. You may ask your family members or friends to accompany you when you go to interview or work;
- Remember not to accept inappropriate requests in order to avoid unbearable consequences.

Q & A:

Q1: My net friend dates me, should I accept it?

A1: Do you really want to meet him? Actually, net friends should be met via the Internet only. If you have to meet net friends in person, you should not meet them alone. You should meet them in public areas with friends you trusted.

- Q2: I just want to meet my net friend, is it dangerous?
- A2: It's very dangerous! We have read from the news that some victims were assaulted or even raped on these occasions. If you have any queries, you should ask your family members, teachers or social workers for advice, don't make judgements by yourself.
